BUILDING IS INCREASED; BIG PERMITS

Fifty Thousand Dollars Is Total Issued on Monday Alone

TEN HOMES ORDERED

Of Total Only $8000 Is General and Business Construction

Eighteen building permits having a total valuation of $50,075 were issued by the building department of Glendale, Monday. Ten of these permits were for homes, the total valuation of which was $41,900, or an average of almost $4200 per dwelling. The remainder of the permits were for garages, and alterations with one store building included on the list.

With 18 permits with such a large valuation being taken out in Glendale in one day, it looks as though the city is well along on its 1922 era of advancement—its fall and winter building season.

The permits issued yesterday bring the total valuation for the month up to $326,873, and for the year up to $5,082,094.

The large number of permits for homes that were taken out yesterday show that the residential section of Glendale has again got its stride. The people from all sections of the country are flocking in and they simply must have some place in which to live. In many instances they are renting until they can purchase lots and build the kind of homes they want. In others they are buying homes that are already up, and those who dispose of these places are compelled to build again.

All of this helps in the advancement of the city, and each home that is erected is assisting in Glendale retaining its title of "The fastest growing city in America."

Most of the permits issued yesterday were for the better class of homes. One was for a $7,000 dwelling, and several ranged from this figure down to $4000, this showing that the value of this section as a location of the better class homes is at last being realized.

The following permits were issued up to noon today:

Fred Moore, 1311 Oakridge drive, 8-room dwelling $7,000
R. C. Lee Bar, 432 North Howard street, 6-room home..... 5,000

Emma J. Williams, 536-38 W. Vine street, 8-room home, W. E. Cleeland, contractor 4,600
Lillie Smith, 1302 Oakridge drive, 6-room home, Fred Moore, contractor 4,500

PRESBYTERIANS TO STUDY WORK OF MISSIONS

School to Begin Wednesday Evening at Local Church

The friends of the Presbyterian church of Glendale and the Presbyterians themselves are looking forward with much anticipation to the school of missions which is to begin tomorrow evening. H. L. Finlay will be the director of the school. The plans have been made under the supervision of Mrs. Dr. Dwight Smith.

Under Mr. Finlay's direction the school will be subdivided into five classes. These will be for men, women, young people, intermediate and children. The field which will be studied will be the same as is being studied in other churches over the country, India. The study books are "Building With India," and "India on the March." These books have been prepared with great care, by those who have spent many years in India, and are written in such a style that they are filled with interest from beginning to end.

The school will begin with a dinner served by the ladies at 6:30. Those expecting to be present will notify Mrs. James Newton. The classes will meet from 7 until 7:40. This will be followed by a 15-minute devotional period, after which the prayer meeting will be held from 8 to 9 o'clock. Those who are unable to come for the dinner are cordially invited to attend the classes at 7 o'clock.

The leaders of the classes will be as follows: Mrs. Geo. H. Martin of Glendale, who has had many years experience in the instruction and training of children will have the children's department. Mrs. William B. Allison of Eagle Rock, who has for 19 years been a missionary of the Presbyterian church in Guatemala and has been much in demand for conferences and public addresses, will lead the intermediate division. D. L. Foster, who has had much experience in Y. M. C. A. work and is now connected with the executive force of the Bible Institute and is also the successful teacher of the Dynamos class in Glendale will be the leader of the young people's work. Mrs. J. Franklin Kelley, for eight years a missionary in India, and for 16 years a missionary in China, under the Presbyterian board, and who is now conducting work among the Chinese in Los Angeles, will have charge of the woman's class. W. A. Horn of Glendale, who was formerly assistant pastor of a large church in Oakland, and has spent many years in Y. M. C. A. work and is now in business in Glendale, will begin the work with the men's group.

Similar schools are being conducted in many of the large cities. Peculiarly interesting and timely, in view of current events, is the study of India. The young people will be fascinated by the tales of adventure and stories of Indian heroes. For the other classes there will be keenly interesting studies of India's fundamental need in her changing, restless life.

Receives Congratulations of Bishop on His Work in Glendale

Rev. C. M. Crist, pastor of the First Methodist church, has been appointed district superintendent for the San Diego district, by the Fresno conference, and will leave for that city, with his family, as soon as arrangements can be made.

DR. C. M. CRIST
Appointed to head fifty-two churches in San Diego district.

Rev. Crist has been pastor of the First Methodist church for three years and records show that it has been a most successful pastorate. The bishop sent special congratulations to Rev. Crist because of the success he has had here in Glendale and it is with many regrets that he and his family are leaving, but with the sweetest of memories.

In his new work, Rev. Crist will be superintendent in charge of 52 churches in the San Diego district. His place here will be filled by Rev. H. I. Rasmus, D. D., and his son, H. I. Rasmus, Jr., who were both appointed for the church here, the son acting as religious educational director. Rev. Rasmus formerly filled the position to be occupied now by Rev. Crist.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Crist have done a great work here and their many friends are sorry to learn of their new appointment. They will be greatly missed here, but the best of wishes go with them for their new work.

Republican Club Has Good Meeting

A very enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee and vice-presidents of the Republican club, and other interested republicans, was held Monday evening at the club headquarters, 108 South Brand boulevard. A. D. Pearce, president of the club, presided.

In addition to the business of the evening, short talks were made by C. S. McCormick, president of the San Fernando Republican club; Mr. Darrow of La Canada, Mr. Fraser and Captain Thigh of Glendale, both of whom are newcomers here.

Plans were made for a public meeting to be held soon at which time all candidates will be invited to speak.

Mrs. John Robert White reported that a tea would be given one week from this Thursday by the lady members of the executive committee and vice-presidents to which all ladies in Glendale will be invited. Details of this affair will be announced later.

According to Mrs. Opal Greenwalt, who is in charge of the Republican headquarters, many republicans have offered services and it is hoped that all republicans in Glendale will show the same enthusiasm and work for the election of the entire republican ticket on November 7.

Republican Committee Is Called Together

A meeting of the members of the Republican County Central committee was called last last evening by Frank C. Weller. It was held at Republican headquarters, 108 South Brand boulevard. The purpose of the session was to discuss ways and means of forming Republican clubs in the various towns and localities in the Sixty-first district.

AT EDUCATIONAL CROSSROADS

The imperative need of affirmative action on the high school bond issue, to come before the voters of the Glendale Union high school district on October 20, has been so insistently presented by educators and taxpayers of the city that there seems no longer opposition to voting the bonds.

Yet there is opposition, and that of an insidious kind, which, taking advantage of the current of events entirely outside of the issue, seek to make capital for the defeat of the measure designed for alleviation of conditions in the high school next year. Conditions indeed which maintain in the present plant at the present time.

These events relate to other bond issues, to the recent increase in taxation, which has caused considerable discontent, sewer construction, some time in the future. In fact every event in the life of the city to come in the future which bears the dollar mark.

If these things had any direct bearing upon the problem of housing the increasing roll of students, if these opponents presented any logical alternatvie, if in good faith they preached their policy of obstruction to the growth of the city, through the growth of its high school—then it would be the duty of the taxpayers of the city to listen attentively, and consider.

The financial burden upon each individual taxpayer of Glendale through the voting of the bonds for the completion of the planned large high school will be too small to be given serious consideration.

The opposition, revealed in speeches made at various public improvement organizations, has been maintained by one or two owners of land only or their agents. So far as the rank and file of the parents of the city are concerned, this opposition, so obviously based upon calamity proclaiming for personal advantage, has come to be a bore. The tactics of holding up general discussion of city affairs by long-winded speeches, motions made by one, seconded by another lonesome adherent, have become a nuisance.

In the last analysis, defeat of the bond issue will mean a small high school, which upon its completion will be overcrowded, necessitating an immediate purchase of a site for another small high school, another bond issue of an equal amount, for another high school, which on completion will be met by another bond issue, the sale of another site to the city, another small high school, increased and increased teaching staffs, thousands of dollars of added expense—and the only benefit—commissions to opposing interests that expect to sell sites to the district.

SOU. PAC. DEPOT COMMITTEE REPORTS

Credit Men Hear Nothing Definite Obtained from Railroad

A report from the committee in charge of securing a proper location for the Southern Pacific station was made at the regular weekly noonday luncheon of the Glendale Credit association, held in the chamber of commerce auditorium.

They reported that they had held a meeting with seven or eight of the railroad officials the latter part of last week here in Glendale and although nothing definite was decided for immediate relief, the general feeling was created that the railroad men would do everything in their power to aid Glendale and cooperate with the business men. There is no question but that this meeting will prove fruitful in that it will hurry along this proposition.

A committee was appointed to look into the advisability of placing a sign board along the Pacific Electric railway advertising the slogan, "Buy in Glendale" or a sign of similar nature.

L. L. Young, a prominent attorney of Los Angeles, was the principal speaker of the day, and he talked on the 24th item on the ballot for the coming election. This item is known by several different names, such as the "sample bill," and the "lawyers' bill" and "bill No. 21." The bill is more commonly known as the lawyers' bill.

This bill was passed by the state senate in 1921 and signed by the governor, June 3, 1921. The general purpose of the bill is to license lawyers only, so that they alone may practise law. The lawyers must qualify as to passing the bar examination and meet all requirements as prescribed by the state of California to practice law.

There were 42 members present with two guests, L. L. Young, attorney of Los Angeles, and P. E. Potter of Nebraska, uncle of Walter P. Potter, local member of the association.

First Guests of City Are Drunk

Alexander Flores and Perfecto Saldego, both Mexicans, were arrested at the corner of Park avenue and San Fernando road, last night, the charge against them being disorderly conduct. When taken to the police court it was found that Flores was intoxicated and that Saldego had not quite reached that stage, Flores was given a good night's rest between the cozy blankets just prchased by the city in cell No. 1, and Saldego was permitted to go home.

STEAL GAS COMPANY TOOLS

A number of tools belonging to the Southern California Gas company were stolen from the construction job at the corner of Lexington and Verdugo, Glendale, on Monday. The theft was reported to the Glendale police by Foreman H. P. Courtney, and the police are now working on the case.

High Graduate in "Remembrance"

Esther Ralston, a former student at Glendale Union High School is now playing a character part in Rupert Hughes' notable picture, "Remembrance", at the Glendale Theatre. In the role of the selfish selfseeking daughter of an indulgent father, she has opportunity to prove her artistry in characterization and her brilliant versatility. Miss Ralston is above all natural. Her type of blonde beauty photographs perfectly.

Rupert Hughes was so pleased with Esther's masterful interpretation of the part of Beatrice that he recently arranged a personal interview with her, at which time he informed her that he is "counting on" her for his next picture. When told that Esther has been playing comedy, Mr. Hughes said, "Fine, that's the best school there is." Without predictions, it may be mentioned that most of our stars had their beginning in comedy.

COMMANDERY IS COMMENDED BY INSPECTOR

Holds Special Conclave for Reception of Sir Aubrey Parks of Long Beach

Glendale Commandery No. 53 of which George U. Moyse is commander, received all kinds of bouquets and spent a delightful evening Monday night when it met in special conclave for a 6 o'clock dinner and for inspection by Sir Aubrey Parks of Long Beach, inspector of this district. Other distinguished guests were Andrew J. Copp Jr., of Los Angeles, department commander a nd also grand standard bearer; Charles Malcom of Long Beach, grand generalissimo; Judge Thomas of Los Angeles, grand prelate; Alfred Willams of Long Beach, inspector of the 6th district; and past grand commanders McGaffery, of Hollywood, Charles Day also of Hollywood and Warren Rowley of Los Angeles. There was a full attendance of the commandery, and a few visiting knights.

The dinner which brought together fifty men thoroughly well acquainted and united in the bonds of good fellowship was an excellent preparation for the meeting in the asylum where the whole work was exemplified for the inspection of Sir Aubrey Parks, Inspector Williams acting as grand warder, and Charles Malcom as grand commander.

The commandery was opened in long form followed by the conferring of the Temple Degree. The initiatory work was followed by speeches from the special guests present and it proved one of the best meetings the commandery has enjoyed in a long time. Grand officers commented very favorably on the work as given, and the condition of the Commandery, declaring that Glendale's Commandery has become one of the excellent organizations of this district which has the finest group of commanderies in the state. The fine attendance, the fraternal spirit and hospitality of the commandery were especially praised.

Tonght the officers of the commandery and a group of members will be guests of the Hollywood Commandery and there put on the Temple degree. They will leave the Glendale Temple at 6:30 and all knights are invited to join the party.

Next Monday night will be one of the big evenings of the year as the commandery will then receive Grand Commander Judge William Harrison Waste of San Francisco accompanied by his wife and by members of the Grand Commandery staff, including some of the men who were here Monday night—Sir Aubrey Parks, Charles Malcolm, Judge Thomas, and others.

A reception will be tendered the grand officers at 6:30 at which the wives of commandery members will be guests. Dinner will be served at 6:30 and will be accompanied by a program. The knights will then retire to the asylum to exemplify all of the work and the ladies will go to the Glendale Theatre as guests of the commandery to see "The Prisoner of Zenda."

All resident and visiting knights are invited to attend the dinner for which reservations must be made with Commander Moyse or Generalissimo Roy V. Hogoe.

BEER AND WINE DEFINITELY 'OUT'

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(Copyright, 1922, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Beer and light wines will not be restored as the sequel of the congressional elections next month.

The wets may make substantial gains in the next congress but that congress, like the one now in office, will be dry.

These facts are apparent to all observers of the political trend of the year, wet and dry leaders agree. They are further buttressed by the opinions of experienced politicians allied with neither the wets or drys.

In spite of the fact that it is admittedly impossible for the wets to score a sweeping overturn of the Volstead law, this year's campaign is but the beginning of a fight which they confidently assert will end in the modification of the Volstead law to permit "moderate" alcoholic beverages.

PATTERSON AVE. WIDENING IS OPPOSED

West Glendale Improvement Association Turns Down Project

A special meeting of the West Glendale Improvement association to discuss the opening of Patterson avenue and the high school bonds was called Monday night at the Columbus avenue school. President Findlay was in charge.

There were about 90 interested people present and the sentiment was very strong against the opening of Patterson avenue and the only ones in favor of it were three or four large land owners who have property which would be largely benefited by the opening.

Inasmuch as there were a number of people present who were not members of the association and were not eligible to vote in the association, the association adjourned and the meeting resolved itself into an open forum, where a vote was taken after a lengthy discussion, there being only four votes against the opening.

A number of people volunteered to circulate a petition of protest against the opening and these are now being handled through Charles Kausen of the Hart Realty company on Broadway. The time for protest expires on October 26 and the volunteers are endevaoring to cover the territory involved before that date.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour to meet at the regular time, the second Tuesday in November.

New Members of Chamber of Commerce

Members of the directorate of the chamber of commerce met at the chamber Monday night to handle any business it might be necessary to transact before today's forum luncheon when Bert Woodard addressed members on amendments and other propositions to be voted upon at the November election.

Modifications of the by-laws were discussed and the proposed changes will be submitted to the forum to be held next Tuesday.

The board voted to meet Monday evenings when there is business to be transacted before a forum meeting. Several members were absent on account of illness, but a quorum was present. New members elected: J. W. Usilton, 201 North Brand boulevard, real estate and insurance; Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank, Glendale avenue branch, H. Nelson, manager; Vera Sinclair, 245 Sinclair avenue, principal Grand View school; Brand Cleaners, 217 South Brand boulevard, cleaning, dyeing and alterations; Dr. Hugh B. Ground was broken this morning by James W. Pearson for a business building to cost $3,200 at 715 South Brand boulevard, part of which building will be used by Mr. Pearson as his real estate office. The contract was awarded to Clarence O. Smith. Work on this building will be rushed to completion, the expectation being that the structure will be ready for occupancy within two months.

Mr. Pearson has just rented Room No. 5 of the Court Shops to Harry A James, who will use the room as the distributing center for a new type phonograph record, invented by himself. The records will be manufactured in Los Angeles and both retailed and wholesaled in Glendale.

MARTY KRUG TO RETURN TO L. A.

Marty Krug, a resident of Glendale, who for the past season has been playing with the Chicago club, has just been released by that organization to the Los Angeles ball club, and will play with that team next season.

Krug joined the Chicago Cubs last spring, the understanding being that he was to be returned to Los Angeles later. The change was made at his own request. Krug jumped to third base earlier in the season when Johnny Kelleher was spiked. He has been a fair hitter throughout the season.

Night Tennis to Be Made Possible

The tennis lovers of Glendale may soon have the privilege of playing tennis at night. City Manager Reeves will bring the matter of furnishing electric lights for the high school tennis courts before the city council Thursday night. It is probable the city will order the lights installed.

W. C. T. U. Opens Forty-second Meeting

MODESTO, Oct. 17.—With approximately four hundred W. C. T. U. workers, representing chapters from the Oregon line to the Tehachapi mountains, in attendance, the forty-second annual convention of the organization was officially opened here this morning by Mrs. Adde Garwood Estes of Berkeley, state president.

State officers held their first executive meeting yesterday afternoon. The convention program, however, did not begin until nine o'clock this morning. Mayor Sol P. Elias and representatives of various civic organizations welcomed the delegates to Modesto at a banquet at the Presbyterian church, where the convention is being held, last evening.

Mrs. Estes delivered her opening address before the convention early this afternoon. The W. C. T. U., she said, stands for service, a service that has concentrated on law enforcement through education.

"All the world is looking on while we are standing back of the Eighteenth amendment," she said. "We must still 'carry on' for the protection of the home and the abolition of liquor traffic."

The state president urged every local union of the organization to work for peace in the world through a department of peace.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE

V. M. Hollister, C. E. Kimlin and Dr. Jessie A. Russell have been named as the organization committee for community service in this city. The program committee composed of Richardson D. White, chairman and A. R. Eastman, Jesse Smith, Captain Thomas D. Watson, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones will submit tentative suggestions for a recreation program. Any one who desires to see any special type of recreation featured, should submit the suggestion to this committee.

All present working committees are temporary to be supplanted by permanent committees when organization is perfected.

ROBERT EASTMAN REPORTS ON THE SCOUT MEETING

Concluding Paper on the Sacramento Conference of Boy Scouts

The report of Robert Eastman, scout delegate to the state conference at Sacramento, read before the Kiwanis club, dealt particularly with the conference, the church, the school, town needs, friends and vocation. The report was well conceived and concluded the symposium presented by the three delegates, the reports of Clifford Wolcott and of Dallas Kalbaugh being given yesterday in the Glendale Daily Press.

Eastman's report follows:

THE CONFERENCE.

The conference was held at the Donnor street school a few blocks from the fair grounds where we were camped. Each subject was announced by Mr. Hill, assistant scout executive of the Sacramento council, the chairman. The subjects were discussed by the various councils according to the program. The first subject brought up was the home.

A scout's duty to his home is first to his parents, for they give him an education and advance him in business life. Secondly to make his home a place to live in and enjoy, not just a place to eat and sleep in.

CHURCH.

In the twelfth scout law it says that "a scout is reverent toward God, is faithful in his religious duties." In order to keep this law it seems as though we ought to have some form of worship every Sunday while in camp. The term week-end camp was changed to that of over-nite camp as Sunday is not included in the scout program.

SCHOOL.

The first duty to his school is to cooperate with the teachers in trying to stop the defacing of school property. The next is to help raise and keep up the moral standard of his school and to make its name one which is known throughout the league as a school that stands for clean athletics.

TOWN.

Many people say that the thing which draws the tourists to California is the climate. This is one of the reasons but the main thing which keeps them here is the towns. The establishment of large parks and shady boulevards is a big thing in beautifying the towns, but the biggest thing is the building of houses which look like they were really a home to somebody.

FRIENDS.

A boy's friends mold his character, and after life more than any one thing. His best friend is the one whom he goes to for everything—his mother. He should have some older friend, one who can give him advice. Next, boys of his own age, because they are more companionable. And last but by no means least, good books and pets. They must all be chosen with great care, because a person is known by the company he keeps.

VOCATION.

This is a thing by which a person earns his living, and which must be thoroughly known in order to make a success at it. The merit badge pamphlets, ranging from agriculture to wireless, telegraphy; give the sketches of the lives of famous men who were masters of the subject, and contain a chapter or vocational guidance whenever need be.

This concluded the program, at the end of which we adjourned to the lawn where our pictures were taken.

ILLINOIS PICNIC

The loyal Illinoisans of all Southern California are joining in a mammoth picnic reunion and in order to insure the Sucker candidates some chance to meet their people, will introduce everyone who ever lived in Illinois.

The candidate may not speak, just look as wise as he can and back off. The picnic is the last of a series of four and will be held Saturday, October 21 in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. If rainy on the 21st it goes over one week. Picnic dinners will be brought, but coffee will be supplied. The program will be brief and snappy, no long speeches. Every Sucker of the Illinois brand is wanted.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braley saw "The Old Homestead" at Grauman's, Monday. Mrs. Braley states that it is a wonderful picture. They saw the picture many years ago in the east and says there are considerable changes in it.

PURELY PERSONAL

Mrs. E. Ervin, her son, Dr. Virgil Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bullock and Miss Ruth Stafford motored to Los Angeles Sunday evening, where they enjoyed a very delicious Spanish dinner.

Miss Gladys Flagg of 149 South Pacific avenue, had for her guest over the week-end Miss Mary Essick, of Needles, Calif.

Mrs. MacPherson of 464 West Patterson has had as her house guest for the last two weeks, her brother, Mr. Elton Leggitt of Oroville, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lakey of 200 East Dryden street left Monday morning for an extended visit in Colorado. They hope to be back in Glendale for the holidays.

CATS WANTED AT UNION HIGH SCHOOL

Cats wanted!

Miss Green of the physiological department of the Glendale union high school has sent out an "S. O. S." for Tommies and Marias and even baby cats. No particular breed is insisted upon. They can be brown ones, black ones, or white ones, and may be speckled ones or striped ones. They can be thin ones or fat ones; young ones or old ones; short ones or long ones; wise ones or foolish ones. The name of the cat is unimportant. Nothing is said as to the length of the tail or ears required—they may be short or long, or may be entirely absent. The number of toes, also, is unimportant—the six-toe baby has nothing on the ordinary five-toe variety. The quality of voice will not be taken into consideration.

Now, folks, have a heart. Don't all speak at once. The fellow producing the largest number of cats will be given the sweetest smile, but, please, please keep your place in line. Don't crowd.

Glendale boundmaster please take notice.

Barthelmess Registers Big Score with "Bond Boy"

One of the most human and gripping film stories of a decade is "The Bond Boy," the latest vehicle for Richard Barthelmess, which begins an engagement at the T. D. & L. theater today. A powerful photodrama revolving around the old practice of binding out children to masters until they become of age, it is another great screen triumph for the youthful star and his able director, Henry King.

Condemned to the gallows for a crime he did not commit, Joe makes a sensational escape from jail and is tracked by bloodhounds. The story passes into a thrilling denouement and comes to a most happy and romantic finish.

The star is ably supported by Mary Thurman, in the role of the unfaithful wife, with Virginia Magee, who enacts the part of Joe's boyhood sweetheart. Others who contribute to the high quality of this splendid production by their dramatic work are Charles Hill Mailes, Ned Sparks, Lawrence D'Orsay, Lucia Backus Seger, Mary Alden, the imimitable screen mother, who "mothers" Barthelmess, Thomas Maguire, Leslie King and Robert Williamson.

"The Bond Boy" is in short, a magnificent picturization of Geo. Washington Ogden's famous story, of the same name—a living, moving masterpiece.

It's a First National attraction produced by Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and it will remain at the T. D. & L. theater for 3 days.

MRS. CHAMBERS HONORS SON'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. F. W. Chambers of 736 South Glendale avenue entertained Saturday night with a jolly dancing party in honor of her son, Sidney Chambers.

The usual "spooky" Hallowe'en decorations were used, such as black cats, witches, skeletons and jack o' lanterns. The evening was devoted to dancing. Glen Hurd rendered a beautiful violin solo and Howard Brummell several saxophone numbers.

After a merry evening of fun-making, a supper was served, consisting of ham sandwiches, pumpkin pie, coffee and a beautiful ice cream cake, with the words "Sid Special" written on the top.

Guests of the evening were the Misses Marion Hill, Jane Symonds, Varene Peet, Amelia Varwerk, Mary Taylor, Jewell Mantooth, Bertha Stepplar, Thelma Salter, Catherine Delgardo, Grace and Bernice Coffey, Portia, Frances and Pearl Chambers, and Messrs. Arnold Cushman, Glen Hurd, Pierson Taylor, Harold Beers, George Morrison, Gordon Andrews, Bill Morgan, Barney Mathers, Billy Crawford, Howard Brummell and Sid Chambers.

Mrs. Chambers was assisted by Mrs. M. White and Mrs. F. W. Hill.

MRS. EVA ANDERSON IS PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

Mrs. Eva N. Anderson of 239 North Kenwood street was pleasantly surprised at her home on Monday afternoon, October 16. It was the occasion of her seventieth birthday. Mrs. F. A. Field and Mrs. Julia A. Trau had previously told her that they would spend the afternoon with her. About 3 o'clock old friends and neighbors began to drop in, and then it dawned upon her that she was enjoying a real surprise party. Beautiful flowers were brought for decorations. Many handsome and useful gifts were added to the surprise. The guests had provided cakes and ice cream, the birthday cake being a large silver cake with candles and numerals 70 in candles.

A messenger boy added a thrill as he handed Mrs. Anderson a yellow telegram that means either good or bad news and we are apt to fear the bad. This proved a telegram of congratulations from Miss Jennie B. Brown, who is visiting for a few weeks in Medford, Oregon. The guests were Mrs. T. S. Gregory, Dr. Ella K. Stowe, Mrs. Bernice Fish, Mrs. J. Smith, Miss L. Cutler, Mrs. H. C. Ackley, Mrs. J. J. Davis, Mrs. M. L. Weaver, Mrs. J. A. Trau, Mrs. George Cornwell, Mrs. F. A. Field, Miss Carrie Cornwell, Mrs. A. SHAKESPEARE SECTION OPENS ITS WORK

The first meeting of the new club year of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club was held Monday afternoon at the home of the curator, Mrs. Walter Jones, 430 Vine street, the new instructor, Mrs. M. Garrett, being present and explaining the work she expects the section to cover. She spoke of the influence of Shakespeare on the modern drama and announced that "Romeo and Juliet" would be the first play studied.

Mrs. Harry Bender was then introduced by Mrs. Garrett and gave several scenes from "Merchant of Venice," including the trial scene.

Mrs. J. A. Wright played two piano numbers, a polonnaise by Chopin and "Tarantelle," by MacDowell.

A business session preceded the program at which reports were made by secretary and treasurer and the meeting dates of other sections were announced. As the section is to have charge of the parcel post booth at the bazaar, which the club is giving November 18 at the Elks' clubhouse, Mrs. Jones asked that all donations for that booth be brought to the next meeting of the section, November 6. Members were asked to constitute themselves committees of one to secure donations for the booth. The section is also to take charge of dancing at the bazaar. The selection of an orchestra was one of the matters discussed. Mrs. Chester Kling was appointed chairman of hospitality, other members of the committee being Mrs. H. C. Vandewater, Mrs. W. E. Halstead and Mrs. B. S. Hunter.

The section also decided to hold meetings at the homes of members in alphabetical order, the next one to be held at the home of Mrs. Emma C. Batz, 430 West Vine.

Gateway Is Seeking More Merchants

The Gateway district, that hustling part of the city clustering around the San Fernando and Brand intersection, has three needs yet unsupplied. The people want a dentist, a big dry goods store and a moving picture house. It is almost two miles to these necessities now and they want them closer than that. The theatre, especially, would draw a large patronage from the Atwater, Angelus and Boulevard Manor tracts, as well as the immediate neighborhood, and the business houses would not be far behind.

Truths in Epigram

If God were not a necessary Being of himself, He might almost seem to be made for the uses and benefit of men.—John Tillotson (1630-1694).

Lord! I wonder what fool it was that first invented kissing.—Jonathan Swift (1667-1745)

Order is Heaven's first law.—Alexander Pope (1688-1765).

HOW THEY DROP OUT

There was a great steel man named Corey. He was a power in the industrial world. He was counted in the select coterie of millionaires whose business was vital to the industrial system. Corey had a wife who had been with him in the days of struggle and poverty. When fortune and success had come, he threw her aside for a younger woman of a far different type. That was the end of Corey. He has money yet, but he has no standing. The councils of business know him no more. His day is done.

Then there was a banker named Stillman, head of the mightiest financial institution in New York. He, too, has gone, for reasons somewhat similar His conduct in private life could not bear scrutiny. When the light was turned upon him, he withered in the glare. Whether of his own choice, he would have sunk from sight, only he knows, but nothing of his good repute remains. He has effaced himself from the circles where once he was a power.

One of the leading figures of Chicago, Harold McCormick, possessing great wealth, allied by marriage to one of the richest American families, is in Europe with a new wife, who had experienced already a string of husbands, making profits, it is believed, out of each in turn. He has resigned his important positions. He is nothing now but the husband of this woman, and his fortune is pledged to win fame for her. Nobody respects the man longer. He is regarded as a failure despite his millions, and an object of ridicule.

These are rather sordid citations, and yet there is a grim lesson in them. The man who imagines that he may draw up his own social code and be a law unto himself, fails. He could not do otherwise. He invites the sorry fate that overwhelms him.

WONDERFUL GROWTH

Los Angeles county, by far the richest in the state, represents a marvelous growth. It contains the largest city of California, and one now expanding with speed unequaled elsewhere. To appreciate fully the changes wrought in reaching the present condition, the dominant populaton and financial strength of this end of the commonwealth, it is necessary to look back over a short term of years. In the nineties San Francisco was so far ahead of Los Angeles, and its environment so advanced beyond that of any part of the south, that no sense of rivalry had arisen. There was deemed to be utter possibility of a chance that Los Angeles ever would be in the San Francisco class. If there were dreamers then who thought they discerned the future as approximating what the future turned out to be, they were laughed at for their folly. But the people already of the south had faith in themselves and the section in which they had chosen to dwell. They had no hesitancy in heralding this faith abroad. They were accused of boasting while they sought only to be boosting. Even the most zealous among them had not expected that the results were to be of such overwhelming magnitude. The local faith has been more than vindicated. The wealth of Los Angeles county now is more than 30 per cent of the state total. It is nearly double that of San Francisco county, which is next on the list.

All this does not imply that the north has been standing still, for it has been going ahead at a rate that, but for unavoidable comparison, could have been deemed satisfactory. It has been outstripped, not that it lagged, but that the south was going ahead at phenomenal pace. The south made the utmost of its natural advantages. It had beauty of scenery, suavity of clime, fertility of soil, access to water and power. All this it advertised in sounding, confident phrase. Public attention was attracted. The public came to be entertained. It went its divers ways proclaiming that southern California had told only the truth about its charms and opportunities. Available resources were studied and came to be in a measure understood. Capital poured in for investment. The capitalist soon found a home at the place of his new investments. Manufacture was begun, and the artisan followed the capitalist. Every branch of soil production was quickened. A harbor was created at San Pedro, and soon became one of the important oil ports of the world. The early faith of the people had sowed the seeds of a mighty success.

THE LAST PROP FALLS

Despite the attack of morals and hygiene upon whisky, the advocates of the liquor proclaimed that anyhow, it was good in case of snakebite. This hope has been dashed. Whisky does not neutralize the venom of the serpent. Individuals have been known to survive both the bite of the rattler and liberal potations of whisky following. The conclusion to be drawn from this is that the individuals were of constitution sound enough to resist the dual attack. Indeed, had they passed away, the probable cause would have been the whisky. Such were the facts when the liquor was comparatively wholesome. The compounds which today pass as whisky often are as deadly as the poisoned fang.

In explaining the value of whisky as a cure, its proponents used to say that introduction of snake poison into the circulation had a tendency to coagulate the blood. This retarded, and ultimately ended, the flow pumped by the heart. But the alcohol stimulated heart action, enabling the organ to force the sluggish blood on its way. All of this sounded reasonable enough. As a theory it was fair to middlin'. As a practice, it was worse than nothing. Recent experiments have proved that creatures bitten while sober by snakes, have strong resistence and are likely to recover. Let alcohol be introduced, and the subject of the experiment be made drunk, and then the addition of snake poison is fatal.

Serums are now made that defeat the effect of snakebite of the most dangerous type, the instant, or very early use of the remedy being necessary. A safer method is to avoid, whenever possible, intimate association with fanged and envenomed snakes. Meanwhile the last prop on which the whiskyite had to lean, has fallen.

Certain phases of the order prohibiting the entry of ships having liquor aboard, naturally will have to be passed upon by the highest judicial authority. it is held by many that the French, for example, have a right to bring wine, and that the utmost to be demanded is that while within the three-mile limit, bars shall be closed, and the sale stopped.

THE GOOD WOMAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A little classic is the story that runs as follows:

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Smith were conversing and the name of Mrs. Robinson was mentioned, whereupon the following conversation ensued:

Dr. Frank Crane

Mrs. Brown—I think Mrs. Robinson is a good woman.

Mrs. Smith—Yes, I don't like her either.

Why is it that the average woman objects to being called good? Is goodness a disgrace? Or, worse than a disgrace, is it out of style?

Every woman wants to look good: Why shouldn't she want to be good?

Alfred Edye tells of a smartly dressed lady who visited a wounded soldier in the hospital and felt very much complimented when he said to her: "You are a good woman, even if you don't look it."

Have we so mismanaged and manhandled the moralities that they have become disreputable?

I think the solution is one that points to a very fundamental error in our thinking. We have been trained for generations to confound goodness with narrowness.

We have pigeonholed God. We have card-indexed moralities.

I asked a man who was the best person he ever knew. He replied that it was Deacon Jones and gave as his reason that the Deacon never swore, or drank, or used tobacco, or played cards, or broke the Sabbath, and so on.

In other words, Deacon Jones' goodness was measured by the things he did not do. By that standard a fence post or a rock by the side of the road ought to take the first prize in morality.

Because we have an entirely negative notion of goodness, we make it drab, colorless and distasteful.

But, as a matter of fact, while restrictions and self-denial are necessary elements in the development of one's personality, they are not ends in themselves, but are simply means to an end. They are not goodness; they are the rocky road to goodness.

Real goodness is a positive thing. It is a force. It is militant.

Better than all that, it is full of adventure and high living.

For at the bottom it is courage, just as all vice is essential cowardice.

If women only knew it, the secret of their power is their goodness. That is, their power over men. Men may be attracted by looseness of speech, appearance, and manner; but it is only their baser natures that are attracted. And if a woman is desirous of real power over a man, real ability to mould him, to influence him, and, above all, to keep him, she should bear in mind that men give obedience and queenship to women only as they believe they are good.

Goodness is not cold. It is warm, sympathetic, and forgiving.

It is badness that at heart is cruel.

"A woman without religion," wrote George Meredith, "is a weed upon the waters, or she is hard as nails."

So while goodness is not a thing to be boasted of, nor paraded, it is a most essential thing for a woman To Be. Always the eternal feminine leads us on. But the leadership and supremacy of the sex forever abides in its clearer vision and appreciation of goodness.

THE RIGHT WORD

QUERIES

"As If" and "As Though"

E. Bertha Burrows, Secretary, Stevens County Teachers' League, Chewelah, Wash.: "Will you kindly tell me when to use 'as though' and when to use 'as if', and why?" Answer: "As if or as though, of the same kind, or in the same condition or manner, that it would be if." (Webster.) "If: Meaning originally 'on condition', 'on the stipulation' . . . though: Introducing a subordinate clause expressing a fact: Notwithstanding that; in spite of the fact that, although . . . In more or less weakened or modified sense, often nearly coinciding with if, but usually retaining some notion of opposition." (New English Dictionary.) In connection with the use of as though the New English Dictionary says further: "Here the opposition is not between the two suppositions actually denoted by the main and subordinate clauses, but between two facts, one expressed by the main clause and the other implied; as, I thank you as much as though I did eat. (I thank you as much as I would thank you though I did eat, but I did not.)" "As if, as though, as it would be of, or supposing that." (Century.) The New Standard gives as if and as though as interchangeable. Does it not seem that the preference should be given to as if, because the word if more clearly expresses the thought; as, it seems as if he should do this (it seems as it would seem if he should do this; or, it seems as it would seem on condition (Webster's definition of if) he should do this? The review of "The Kingfisher" showed that as if was used consistently throughout the book. Note the comments on as if in next Thursday's article. There will be further comments on these phrases from time to time. Readers are invited to express their opinions.

"Two Teaspoonfuls"

J. Nelson, New York City: "Please answer through your column which of these two phrases is correct: 'two teaspoonfuls of water'; or, 'two teaspoonsful of water'." Answer: Two teaspoonfuls.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

A philosophy of living?

The manner of your thinking with respect to life?

You have one.

You may not have stopped to define it.

But you have it nevertheless.

It is reflected in your day's work.

in the quality of your citizenship.

in the diversions you choose.

In the ideals you have.

In everything you do.

The lazy and indifferent man has a philosophy.

He might not agree with you that he has any at all.

But he has.

It is the philosophy of the sluggard and the cheat.

The clock-watcher.

The man who wants to go to work at the last minute and quit work at the first stroke of the closing hour.

The lazy man and the indifferent man may never have thought of a philosophy as something reflected in deeds.

But it is.

Everything is a preachment.

A smile, a kindly word, a bit of help.

Or a scowl, a snarl, a crusty denial.

All are evidences of your belief.

The man who is clean, alert, steady, square, dependable, is doing better than preaching a philosophy.

He is living one.

And the world needs living religions and beliefs and philosophies.

Life is the big thing in the world.

It is more than stars, firmaments, planets, comets, or all else except what is necessary to maintain it.

That is the underlying truth of all real religions and philosophies.

That life is first and foremost in any scheme of thinking.

Because it is the greatest thing we know.

It is more important that people be fed than that planets be measured.

Or that seas be plumbed.

Or that atoms be divided.

These are important only as they contribute to the feeding, housing, inspiring and making happy of people.

The radio is interesting?

And important.

Recently it saved several hundred lives by broadcasting the peril of a ship.

That is why it was important.

Because it served people in need.

As a mere thing of scientific or intellectual gymnastics it would have been too trivial for consideration.

So with a philosophy.

A manner of thinking.

It is important because it shapes and determines the course of human lives.

Yours is shaping and determining you.

You may not know it, but every day you are the creature of the beliefs you have.

If you believe in cleanliness and friendliness and cheerfulness and work, all those are reflected in your day and your manhood.

If you don't believe in the value of anything except three meals and a bed, you are in the same state of mind as the cave man.

All you need is the long hair and the tusk and the club.

You have the kind of thinking the cave man had.

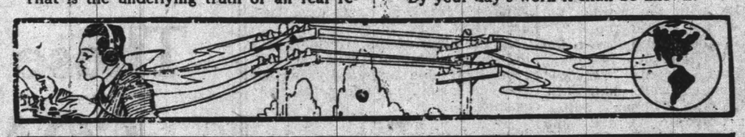
Every man has a way of thinking.

A method of belief that shapes his life.

What is yours?

By your day's work it shall be known.



SONGS OF THE POST'S POETS

"ASK ME NO MORE"—By Alfred Tennyson

Ask me no more: the moon may draw the sea;
The cloud may stoop from heaven and take the shape,
With fold to fold, of mountain, or of cape;
But O too fond, when have I asked of thee?
Ask me no more.

Ask me no more: what answer should I give?
I love not hollow cheek or faded eye:
Yet O my friend, I will not have thee die!
Ask me no more, lest I should bid thee live;
Ask me no more.

Ask me no more; thy fate and mine are sealed;
I strove against the stream and all in vain;
Let the great river take me to the main.
No more, dear love, for at a touch I yield;
Ask me no more.

IS EUROPEAN CIVILIZATION BREAKING UP

A warning that Europe was in danger of dissolution and of sinking again into the Dark Ages was uttered by H. J. E. Peaka, in his presidential address before the anthropology section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science meeting in Hull, England. The concluding passage of the address is as follows:

"It is needless for me to remind you that the world is in a state of very unstable equilibrium—that the crust is, so to speak, cracked in many places, and that the fissures are becoming wider and deeper, and that fresh fissures are constantly appearing, not only in distant lands but nearer home. Again, this crust, if I may continue the geological metaphor, is stratified, and there are horizontal as well as vertical cleavages, which are daily becoming more marked. It is to the interest of humanity that these breaches should be healed and the cracks stopped, or we may find the civilization of the world, which has grown up through long millennia at the cost of enormous struggles, break up into a thousand fragments. Such a break in the culture of the European Region followed the dissolution of the Roman Empire, and more than a thousand years were needed to heal it; nay, some of the cracks then made have never yet been closed. Anything that may help to avert such a disaster is important to the human race, and there is no greater danger at present than the alienation of the peoples of Asia and the Near East."

In order to prevent this disaster Mr. Peake urged that anthropologists should devote themselves to the study of the differences between civilized peoples instead of confining their investigations to savages who, he said, "represent not so much our ancestors as our poor relations."

Golf grass to make the little pellets bounce better on the putting green and the fairways has been developed by the bureau of plant industry of the U. S. Agricultural department in an effort to rescue the links from the seed fakers and so-called experts.

Creeping bent is the grass which has been found to furnish the ideal turf for the devotees of the Scotch game which is beginning to crowd baseball in the affections of our people. The use of this grass has been fought by the seed men because it is not raised for seed.

The ideal golf link covering is a running, jointed grass which sends down roots from each joint, thus forming a thick mat which is resistent to wear and drouth. The method of planting is to cut these roots in a chopping box and sow them like seed but covered somewhat deeper. In this way, a more uniform color and texture is obtained than from grasses raised from seed which greatly varies in growing quality, resulting in variations in color and texture.

Creeping bent is an importation from Germany with which the agricultural department has been experimenting for five years. It is no harder to cultivate than strawberry vines and is raised in somewhat the same way. It is cultivated in rows six feet apart and spreads rapidly. A hundred feet of a row is sufficient to sow an entire golf course. Last year 115 golf courses were supplied in this way and the demand is rapidly increasing.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHAT DOES G. O. P. STAND FOR?

[New York World]

Taking the senatorial primaries as an index, the republican party, as now organized, represents both the extreme conservative and the extreme radical elements of organized American politics. La Follette and France would be as much at home in a socialist convention as Lodge would be at a dinner of Wall street bankers. Hiram Johnson is a Hearst republican, and Hearst republicanism differs from socialism only in being without principle or consistent purpose. Between these extremes are all the gradations from rational conservatives to moderate liberals.

There has been nothing quite like it in American politics since the Cotton Whigs and the Conscience Whigs held together for a brief period a defunct political organization. The essential difference is that while the Whig party never had an established hold on the confidence of the American people, the republican party is so much a going concern that its leaders can find cause for confidence in anything that happens; nor are they troubled in any way by the irreconcilable conflicts that are going on everywhere within the party.

Apparently the primary has destroyed the need of party unity and transformed every question into a local issue. Anything is republicanism that can carry a republican primary, and nobody feels the need of finding a common denominator. While government and all other undertakings have been undergoing a process of centralization, politics has been decentralized to an extent that has left party names and party labels well-nigh meaningless.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

If lovers of pugilism want to know why some people do not admire the sport, it is easy to tell them. One reason is that the average professional fighter generally is to be found in criminal association. He belongs to the class that is kept under the eye of the police. When not actually engaged in fighting, there is small difference between his status and that of the vagrant.

HENRY JAMES

Another reason is that the sport is crooked. This has reference to it as a gainful occupation. It is exceedingly doubtful if since the days of John L. Sullivan there has been a ring event "on the square." The big fighters are scandalously overpaid. They get more for a single appearance in the ring, the outcome often understood in advance, than they could earn in a decade of honest labor. In one sense they are not to blame for getting all the fat purses they can, but the spectacle of the ease with which they get these purses tends to discourage men who work for a living. If a fighter, who nine-tenths of the time is a loafer, gets a fortune for his moderate efforts during the remaining tenth, the toiler, whose task occupies nine-tenths of his time, sees ground for being dissatisfied.

Prize fighting is brutal. The sight of bloody faces, and the sound of thudding blows have one of two effects. Either they make a savage of the beholder or they sicken him with disgust. There are plenty more reasons just as good.

"The manly art of self defense" is all right. It is not being attacked. Prize-fighting has nothing in common with it. The professional prize-fighter is an obnoxious type of parasite. The comparatively decent ones occasionally to be encountered, are exceptions. And the best of them are in a despicable business.

The exposure of the methods of fake mediums continues. It may be a good thing. If it is followed by arrest and punishment of the frauds it will be a good thing. If it shall cause city authorities to become ashamed of licensing such swindlers, and papers ashamed to publish their advertisements, there will be reason to be grateful for it. The man or woman who asserts the ability to foretell the future is lying, and all above the grade of simpleton, "simp" for short, ought to be aware of it.

Phillips, husband of the woman now in jail charged with a hideous and deliberate murder, is having an excess of privilege. For one thing, he has his liberty. Yet by his own statement, his wife confessed her guilt to him, and he endeavored to bring about her escape. One of the acts attributed to him was the throwing away of the hammer with which the crime had been accomplished. This article was needed and sought as concrete evidence. What is an accessory after the fact?

Contemplating deep problems of the universe a student of Bridgeport, Conn., killed himself, apparently having despaired of solving them. Several reasons were given for the act: He had read Les Miserables; he had thought upon the sombre fact that the world could get along without him; he had pondered on "Who made the world?"; the theories of Darwin.

Truly, the lad had found several topics for thought, but not an excuse for suicide. The trouble that assailed and vanquished him came from within and not without. The universe in its various bearings on humanity is a large theme. Perhaps it is rash for anybody, even a boy of seventeen, to aspire to know all about it.

Since there are papers that insist on printing the memoirs of the ex-kaiser, it is comforting to observe that they print along with it an analysis of the stuff. This hardly is necessary, for in the absence of all explanation it stands out as rubbish swept from a garret untenanted of ideas. The reader could get along without the notes of the commentator. The comfort lies in the circumstance that the public in this manner gets assurance that the editors do not think they are publishing history, but merely exhibiting the evidence supporting a charge of insanity.

The Continent mentions Turkey as the gravest problem of the time, being in this, exactly accurate. Its solution, as proposed by the editor, is the removal from Turkey's jurisdiction of all other racial elements, since manifestly, Turkey is not fit to rule any but Turks. But this brings up a second problem. Move them, but how and whither?

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

There are times when I hate to think about myself. At such times I would crown any one who handed me a moral mirror in which I might see my ethical imperfections. I do not like liars or cowards or weaklings, and I see no reason to think that I would like myself, if that's what my reflection looked like. All of which is based on the recent party at the Eleazar J. Hires' mansion.

"Come on out for the week-end," Eleazar said to us. "We're going to have a nifty little party out there."

Mrs. Pilgrim does not like Eleazar. His friends are a little bit too rapid for our sort of people, and his friends' wives are apt to run a shade high in spectroscopic values. I do not like Eleazar particularly. He is rich, he is somewhat boisterous, he can at times grant favors, and there are boards of directors on which his voice might conceivably be raised to my advantage. Likewise the parties he gives are—to speak with the voice of the flesh—worth attending. The uplift is checked at the gate.

"We'll be glad to come," said I, after consulting Mrs. Pilgrim with the eyes. She did not signal yes, I'll admit, but neither did she signal no. In the privacy of the marital chamber I was forced to admit that I had accepted Eleazar's invitation simply for what I might get out of it. I placed myself in the parasite class. By kowtowing to this good-natured, loud, red-necked individual I hoped to make some gain. I was prepared to smile when he smiled and laugh when he laughed. I would not dare even have political opinions until I found out what Eleazar thought. And there would be women at his place Mrs. Pilgrim will never tell the world about meeting.

"Did you hear what Jimmy Horner said when Eleazar invited him to spend the week-end?" asked Mrs. Pilgrim, reflectively. He made the usual thin and transparent excuses. So Eleazar bawled at him, in the hearty, well-meaning, unoffended way the man has.

"'Whassa matter, anyhow?' said Eleazar. 'Don't you like the folks that're going to be there?'

"And Jimmy Horner said 'No.'"

I wonder why Mrs. Pilgrim told me that story?

turns out far better work than can possibly be done by hand. This is especially true as to moldings, corner pieces and other wood work requiring exact accuracy. Our mill work offers you that advantage and also that of a large variety to choose from with immediate delivery in any quantity. As to cost, of course, you know no hand work could compete with our products.

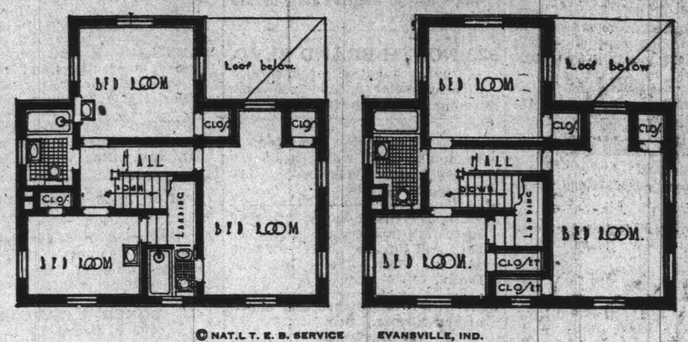
PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR INEXPENSIVE ADDITIONS TO HOME COMFORT AND HEALTH —WITHOUT REBUILDING



© NAT. L. T. E. B. SERVICE EVANSVILLE, IND.

Bathing and Toilet Needs of 3 Bedrooms More Nearly Met

ORIGINAL PLAN

Second Floor Plan Remodeled Inexpensively Giving 1000% More Comfort and Convenience

Here is a three bedroom house that was built, as too many still are, with only one bathroom. In any family having use for three bed rooms, individuals of the household simply cannot avoid conflict in use of a single bathroom; not to speak of the desirability of guest being provided with private bath and toilet facilities.

Here is a practical plan which calls for only a trifle of building alterations and sacrifices no advantage possessed by the original plan, yet provides the added bathroom for the least possible outlay. A shower bath for each tub means successful defiance to hot weather. The added lavatories in bed rooms, each with its medicine and toilet cabinet, will be enormously convenient too.

With this improvement, this dwelling becomes infinitely more comfortable and attractive as a home, and takes on an added property value several times greater than the cost of the work.

Although seldom thought of in that light, ample and convenient bathing and toilet facilities add more attractiveness to a home than most other features of comfort or decoration. Besides which, the encouragement of nicety in personal cleanliness, that is so provided, is really a profitable investment in health protection.

The usual household, dependent upon a single bathroom, is incompletely equipped according to today's standards for practicing hygiene and cleanliness.

Call and see us and get our estimate on the above alterations.

10th UNIT

FAIRVIEW

Lots 50x150——$750 to $875

$50 Cash, $15 per mo. 5% Discount for Cash

We have never offered choicer property than that in our 10th unit. It is bordered on the entire east side by beautiful pine trees. The lots are full-sized with highest restrictions, and seven of them have been sold to a contractor who will immediately start the construction of seven $5000 houses.

Located in the west end of the City of Glendale, directly above the Pacific Electric line with a stop on the property. It is on a beautiful slope with an unexcelled view of mountains and valley.

The 10th unit of Fairview offers an exceptional opportunity to builders. A saving of approximately $1000 a lot enables a builder to give so much better value in houses of this class, that they find a very ready sale at as good or better profit. We urge all builders to investigate the 10th unit of Fairview, which is the best property with the highest restrictions that we have ever offered.

SPARR TRACT TO HAVE AIRPLANE FACILITIES

H. E. Barnum Makes Announcement of Long Visioned Future Service

"In our comprehensive plan of development, we propose," said H. E. Barnum of the Francis-Barnum-Walters Co., who have just opened up Sparr Heights, the beautiful 1500-acre residential tract lying on either side of the picturesque Verdugo road between Verdugo Woodlands and Montrose, "to make provision for an aeroplane landing place."

"Those who read Brisbane's column of 'To-Day' in one of our leading newspapers will remember his suggestion that everyone should, in the first place, buy land in this state for the reason that California would ultimately have a population of 50,000,000 people and that land would more than quadruple in value owing to that increase. Secondly, they should buy hillside property, if for no other purpose than to leave it to their children and grandchildren.

"He agrees with all students of living conditions that ultimately the congestion on low level land will drive people to elevated sections and that the high-class, high-priced, distinctive residential districts will be on the hill slopes.

"It has recently been authoritatively announced that within the next five years aerial passenger traffic will be developed to the point where one can ride at the rate of 6 cents per mile.

"In the years to come, city blocks will all be built of a given height in order to provide landing stages for aeroplanes and the suburbanite living on a hillside will in the future hop off in his aeroplane and in 10 minutes land on the top of the building in which his office is located.

"We have seen how the universal ownership of automobiles has created in the last two years an exodus from the cities and Roger W. Babson, the famous statistician and economist, states that this movement back to the quiet and the peace of the country has just begun.

"With the perfection of aerial transportation, there will be no necessity for living in the midst of the city's noise and confusion and here in Los Angeles we can see how home seekers are already building upon the slopes.

'It was owing to a recognition of this fact that our syndicate purchased the Sparr estate. Its diversified terrain, consisting, as it does, of canyons, knolls, mesas, promontories and mountain slopes, affords an unrivaled opportunity for working out our plan of making this one of the most beautiful subdivision in the country, considered on the basis of architectural and landscaping effects.

"We feel, therefore, we must be prepared for any future development along the lines of aerial transportation, and when it arrives, we will be ready for it."

TUJUNGA SCOUTS GET NEW LEADER

At a special meeting of the troop officers held Saturday morning, M. E. Hill was selected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Scoutmaster Hawthorne B. Tilton of the Tujunga troop of Boy Scouts.

When Mr. Tilton's resignation was read at the meeting a vote of thanks was extended him by the troop committee for the unselfish time and energy he had devoted to the boys.

Mr. Hill, who succeeds Mr. Tilton, was one of the first men in Tujunga to grasp the potential possibilities for good among the boys such as the Boy Scout movement has to offer. He has been tirelessly on the job from the first and has served as a member of the troop committee, associated with Lee L. Lang and Richard Smith.

The Tujunga American Legion is sponsoring this troop and Mr. Hill is one of the most energetic and enthusiastic Legion boosters in the Monte Vista valley. He has seen considerable over-seas service, been wounded many times, comes from good Yankee stock, has high ideals and a genuine love for boys, so everything concerned the troop committee feel they are very forunate in having a man of his caliber to take charge of the troop. He will be assisted in this charge by W. N. Perry, who has already been commissioned by the national council of the Boy Scouts of America as assistant scoutmaster.

At the present time there are about 16 boys in the troop. The plans of the scout leaders call for a number of outdoor meetings and overnight hikes this winter, whenever the weather permits. The regular meetings will be held every Friday evening from 7:15 to 8:45 at the American Legion hall.

Plan Benefit for Community Church

A free concert will be given Wednesday evening, October 18 at 8 o'clock at the La Crescenta school house, the purpose of which willlll be to promote the construction of a new community church building at that place. It is announced that Mayor Robinson of Glendale will have charge of this program, which promises that it will be a real "class" affair. Everyone in Glendale and La Crescenta valley is invited to attend.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, is ill and under the care of a trained nurse. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, is also said to be under the weather and several other club members are confined to their homes by indisposition.

EDITORIALS By the PEOPLE

Editor Glendale Press:

On September 7, the city council passed ordinance No. 654, which makes it "unlawful for any person to ignite, set fire to or burn any rubbish, papers, shavings, boxes or other combustible material in or upon any public street, sidewalk, alley or public place," within an extensive area; and "any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance," is liable to a fine of $300, or imprisonment in the city or county jail for a period of three months, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Under the ordinance one can present a written petition to the city council for permission to erect an incinerator, and it may grant permission, provided, such incinerator is approved by the fire chief and the building inspector; and, provided, this circumlocution is successful, the burning must be done within certain specified hours.

This ordinance operates as a hardship upon thousands of citizens who live within the extensive prohibited zone. Most of them are tenants, and the tenant, unfortunately, finds himself in a position where he is helpless. There are times when—even a tenant—wishes to get rid of private papers, letters, etc., by burning them; but under this ordinance he is obliged to leave them for the world to read, or appropriate. The man who occupies his own home, does as he pleases, even within the prohibited area. The ordinance barely squints at him. Its provisions contemplate the more thickly populated part. The inhibition is against the tenant. This is class legislation, and opposed to elementary principles of popular government. It is autocratic government, in which the under dog is made to carry the greater burden, assume the major responsibility, and is given the minimum return.

The ordinance is lopsided, and the work of an amateur. The whole situation is referred to the tenant. He may present a prayer to the city council for permission to erect an incinerator, and exercising its discretion, it may give permission, provided the fire chief and the building inspector have approved, but what has the tenant got to do with it? He is only in temporary occupation. A built incinerator is the answer to the ordinance, but the one to erect it is the landlord. But there is no provision touching him. He is an unknown quantity in this stroke of constructive genius. Of course, as Mr. Morrow, the assistant city attorney, and author of this ordinance, informed me—I could move to another part of the prohibited area!

The purpose of the ordinance is to reduce the danger of fire. But will it? On the contrary, it will be a ready promoter of fire, perhaps of some destructive fire. Many citizens have been in the habit of burning their papers, and other combustibles, not only to get rid of them, but to obviate the danger of fire. Now they must leave it all to the city to remove. Speaking from experience and observation, the contractor charged with the removal of combustibles is a kind of Rip Van Winkle. Where I live, papers, etc., have been allowed to accumulate for weeks together—despite the fact that the tenants had paid for the regular removal—until the stuff was piled up and blown about the alley. Burning matches and partly smoked cigarettes are carelessly thrown away, and the miracle is, that we haven't had a fire before this. The ordinance will make this condition worse—unless Rip is made to keep awake.

But—to put it succinctly and politely—whether it is adopting prohibitive or restrictive measures that fall the heaviest upon the common people; imposing a tax for the use of a public utility, in addition to an exorbitant charge, which again falls the heaviest on the common people; or blowing this tax money, chiefly of the common people, on foolish and useless land deals, one finds surprising uniformity in certain activities at the city hall. —G. S. A.

POST AUXILIARY TO GIVE SERIES OF SILVER TEAS

Plans were made for a series of silver teas to be given during the winter by the members of the American Legion auxiliary at their regular meeting last night, held in the American Legion hall, 610-A East Broadway.

There was a splendid attendance and Mrs. Chalmers Day, president, opened the meeting with the salute to the flag, the singing of one verse of "America," and the chaplain led in prayer.

Each member was asked to earn, beg or steal a dollar before November 6 and bring a story, telling how she earned it, in poetry, if possible. A series of silver teas were also planned as a means of earning more money.

Hereafter the second meeting of the month will be held in the afternoon, which may enable more members to be present.

A program committee was appointed, with Mrs. Ed Herring as chairman and Mrs. W. E. Lee as her assistant.

Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyer gave a report of the meeting of the county council which was held in Pasadena last week at the new Legion clubhouse, given to the American Legion by the city. She stated that this was a beautiful building and is to be used by Legion members from Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra.

Chalmers Day of the Glendale post, 127, told about the Legion plans for Armistice Day, stating that they were anticipating a navy football game. There will be two navy bands and the Glendale Elks will also play. It is expected that there will be a parade in the morning and football games in the afternoon. Definite plans for the evening have not yet been made, but either a dance, boxing match or banquet will be given.

THE REFERENDUM

EDITOR'S NOTE:—This column will be devoted to signed propaganda relating to the various measures on the state ballot in November and other matter of like nature. Responsibility for statements herein lies with the authors whose names are signed. The space is limited.)

Industry will shun California if the $500,000,000 Water and Power Act is approved by the voters of the state at the fall election William S. Murry, eminent engineer, declares in a statement announcing a speaking tour under the auspices of the People's Economy League, which is opposed to the Act.

Mr. Murry, who has just completed a survey of the hydro-electric power resources of the northeast Atlantic seaboard for the federal government and had associated with him Herbert L. Hoover, is visiting in California. While studying the development of the state's power resources he became acquainted with the provisions of the measure to be acted on at the poles next month and immediately registered his protest.

"Should the people of California be so unwise as to obligate themselves for half a billion of dollars, as provided in this Act, the great entrance gates of the Golden State, inviting industry and individual enterprise, will swing shut and the exit gates open wider and wider," he declared.

Mr. Murry's statement points out that the state now has outstanding bonds totalling $73,000,000 and with the addition of a $500,000,000 issue as provided by the Act, it will increase its debt sevenfold to more than half the total bonded indebtedness of all the 48 states of the Union, which is now $1,071,000,000.

"If the projects undertaken by the State of California under this Act, if it passes, are unsuccessful the people of the state will have to pay for them by taxation," the statement explains.

ECONOMY LEAGUE....

Upon his return from the East, J. D. Grant, of San Francisco, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Save the Redwood League, reports that interest in the movement to save California's gigantic trees is steadily increasing among influential people and organizations.

While in New York, J. D. Grant conferred with Madison Grant, author of "The Passing of the Great Race" and one of the pioneers in the Save the Redwoods movement regarding plans for carrying on further work of the League.

"There are indications of constantly increasing interest in the movement throughout the East", said Mr. Grant.

"Continued publicity is being given to our attempts to save the redwoods through metropolitan newspapers and magazines with large national circulation. We have secured the unanimous support of conservation societies throughout the nation as well as the various automobile and tourist associations. People are awakening to a realization that California redwoods, one of the marvels of the world, must be saved now or perish for all time."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When our kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink. Drink lots of soft water.—Adv.

PICTURES OF ALL BEST BABIES AT PHOTOGRAPHERS

Certificates of Honor Young Ones Are Being Mailed to Parents

All the mounted photographs that have been made of babies that participated in the Best Baby Contest have been returned to the photographers who made them and parents are requested to go to the photographers they patronized and secure the pictures.

When the contest closed some of the photographers were so far behind with their orders that some hundreds of pictures to be made for parents were short. They have promised to finish up as rapidly as possible, and, as stated, the parents will receive them direct from the photographers.

The certificates for honor babies are being made and these together with the score cards are being mailed as rapidly as possible this week.

WOMAN AND RED-SKIN ON JURY

PENDLETON, Ore., Oct. 16.—Jury selections in Umatilla county this term made history in two instances.

The first was the selection of Edith M. Fraker as foreman of the grand jury, the first woman to hold such a post in this county.

The second was the calling of Albert Minthorn, a full-blooded Umatilla Indian, on the trial jury venire. Minthorn is the first Indian to be called for jury duty during the thirty-one years Umatilla reservation Indians have held their citizenship.

PIONEER HEATER IS SHOWN BY GAS CO.

The first Radiantfire sold by the Southern California Gas Company more than five years ago is on exhibition at the local office of the company here. No one looking at this Radiantfire would suspicion for a minute that it was five years old and had been in continuous service most of that time.

This particular heater—for it serves every purpose of a fire place, a heating stove, or a grate—is made of the same composition used in Radiantfires put out now by the Southern California Gas Company. It still has the original Radiants that were put in five years ago, and they look as if they would be good for many more years of service. During the past five years the local gas company has sold over 1,000 Radiantfires, and there has been no complaint at all as to the service rendered or the wearing qualities of the same. The company now has a full line on hand and will be glad to show same to prospective buyers.

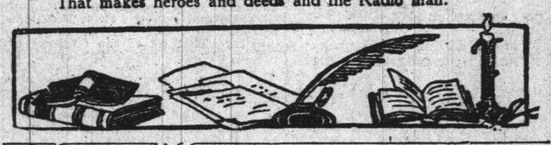
THE RADIO MAN

He's the Radio man, and he sticks to his post,
He has duty to do at whatever the cost;
The old ship may creak and may shiver and throb
But the Radio man is up there on the job.
There are people in danger down there on the deck,
And nowhere about on the sea is a speck
Of a ship, so it's send out the word through the air,
And the Radio man is on duty up there.

He's the Radio man, and the old ship may jump
And wallow and flounder and ride up the hump
Of a wave like a mountain and ship such a whale
Of a sea that wan faces grow ghastly and pale,
And off to the East and the South and the North
And the West on the water his message goes forth,
And the answer comes back: "Coming soon as we can!"
And it's all in the game with the Radio man.

He's the Radio man, he's up there in the nest
Where the messages come from the East and the West
And the North and the South, and he never is done
Till the battle with danger is lost or is won.
Not his to know fear, for his duty is there,
Where the signals of danger go forth to the air,
And the answers come back and eyes fearfully scan
The sea for ships called by the Radio man.

He's the Radio man, and he sticks to his post,
He's true to tradition, whatever the cost;
The engines may stop and the old ship may throb
On the waste of wide water, but he's on the job,
And life boats are bobbing to East and to West
And to North and to South—he's up there in the nest;
"Down she goes by the head!" It's just part of the plan
That makes heroes and deeds and the Radio man.



NORFOLK GOOD MATCH FOR SIKI

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Battling Siki runs a good chance of having his glory amputated when he meets Kid Norfolk in his American debut.

The Kid, according to Leo Flynn, his manager, can whip anyone he thinks he can and Leo says he surely thinks he can take the Senegalese.

American boxing critics, from what they have heard from the other side, figure that any number of American boxers with a good body attack could whip Siki.

When Carpentier broke both his hands on the Battling one's head and jaw it does not seem that there is anything glassy about his upper sections.

The difference between American and European boxers is well shown in the case of Carpentier.

If the Frenchman had something besides a straight right hand to the jaw like a good left or hook to the body, he would not have fallen such an easy victim before Siki and he might have lasted longer against Dempsey.

The European boxers, in spite of all the examples they have seen, have not yet learned that there are places more vulnerable to attack than the "button."

* * * * * * *

Siki and Norfolk are about evenly matched as far as size and weight are concerned and the boxing commission was finding no soft spot for him when they ordered him to whip the Kid before he got after Dempsey or Wills.

* * * * * * *

Ever since the Dempsey-Carpentier fight it has been generally believed that the weights announced before the fight were not just exactly accurate. Dempsey's weight was announced as 188 pounds and Carpentier's as 172. The difference between the announced weights and the "official" poundage was not as much as generally believed. William Muldoon, chairman of the boxing commission, stated recently that Dempsey weighed 190 pounds before the fight while Carpentier tipped the beam at 169 pounds.

* * * * * * *

Dempsey has been booked to work for Tex Rickard in Madison at that weight the next time out.

Dempsey has been booked to wrok for Tex Rickard in Madison Square Garden in January, but his opponent has not been selected. He probably will meet the winner of the elimination series between Miske, Gibbons, Brennan, Martin, Floyd Johnson and Greb.

* * * * * * *

Finding the making of the weight too severe, Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia southpaw, has decided to leave the lightweight class and set out after the title of Jack Britton, the welterweight champion.

He is going to make his debut as an official welterweight late this month against Dave Shade in a bout scheduled for Milwaukee. He surely has picked out about the toughest opponent possible to make his debut and if he whips Shade he ought to have a great chance to beat Britton.

Tendler is a shrewd business man. He knows that Benny Leonard will have to desert the lightweight class or retire from the ring and he apparently believes that Britton is about ready to lose to someone and he wants to be that one.

* * * * * * *

It probably would give Lew and his manager, Phil Glassman, a big kick to have Leonard coming to him for a fight when he could dictate the terms as the champion.
